

Value Added Measures: Implications for Policy and Practice

May 23, 2008 • The Urban Institute

---

8:00 – 8:30am	Continental Breakfast
8:30 – 8:35am	Welcome  Adam Gamoran, Wisconsin Center for Education Research Jane Hannaway, CALDER – The Urban Institute
8:35 – 9:50am	Down from the Tower: Research Perspectives on Value Added Measurement and Its Uses  Panelists will highlight the technical and methodological challenges of value added modeling and discuss its promise and limitations for use in policy and practice.  Doug Harris, University of Wisconsin – Madison Dan McCaffrey, RAND Tony Bryk, Stanford University and the Carnegie Foundation Moderator : Jane Hannaway, CALDER – The Urban Institute
9:50 – 10:00am	Break
10:00 – 11:15am	Policy Players: The Politics of Value Added Measures  Panelists will identify issues related to the use of value added measures in policy and practice.  Leo Casey, United Federation of Teachers Robert Gordon, Center for American Progress Ross Wiener, EdTrust Moderator : Helen “Sunny” Ladd, CALDER – Duke University
11:15 – 12:00pm	Concluding Comments and Discussion Rick Hanushek, CALDER – Stanford University